

Adam Hodgins, from Kincardine, Ontario, manages Hodglynn Holsteins with his wife Jess and their five children. Their 350-acre farm houses 60 milking Holsteins, focusing on breeding for high type and production, and collaborates with leading cow families in the industry. Hodgins has been successful with many All-Canadian and All-American nominees, such as Blondin Unstopabull Maple and Hilrose Moovin Adelina. He mentors local youth through 4-H groups and advocates for the dairy industry and the showring. Hodgins was an associate at the Quebec Supreme Show in 2023 and the International Red & White Show at the World Dairy Expo in 2011 & 2024. Most recently, he was the official judge at the International Red & White Show at World Dairy Expo in 2025.
